

Anglican Care Wins National Acclaim and gains Accreditation once again

To celebrate their win of two Better Practice Awards and the accreditation of five of their facilities, Anglican Care will host a Garden Party for their staff, executives, and two special guests.

Anglican Care is the aged care division of the Anglican Diocese of Newcastle and has been operating for more than 50 years in the Hunter and Central Coast.

Ms. Tracey Clerke, Acting State Manager NSW/ACT for the Aged Care Standards and Accreditation Agency, and Mr Greg Combet, Federal Member for Charlton will present Anglican Care managers with the coveted Better Practice Awards and Accreditation Certificates, respectively, at the Garden Party on Friday, February 3.

Anglican Care's CEO, Anne Maree Hodgson attributes these two significant achievements to the dedication and efforts of the managers and staff.

"The initiatives our managers and staff implement go above and beyond, to provide the very best care and services for their residents. These attributes are a testament to their commitment," she said.

Carey Bay Village, Toronto Nursing Home, McIntosh Hostel, CA Brown Nursing Home and Hostel and Greenmount Gardens are the latest of Anglican Care's facilities to receive an endorsement for the quality of care that they provide.

The annual Better Practice Awards recognises the quality improvements and better practice across all eight Anglican Care facilities throughout the Hunter and Central Coast regions.

While the Federal Governments accreditation program serves as an endorsement of the high standard of care and quality lifestyle Anglican Care delivers.
